"There is no city, perhaps, in the West, where the want of cheap tenements is so deeply felt as in Louisville. We have splendid houses and palaces for the residences of the rich, but we have too few houses for those of small means. We have no comfortable quarters for the laboring and producing classes. The mechanic or laboring man cannot invest half of his hard earnings yearly in house to shelter his family. Food and clothing, as well as house room, are necessities; and to pay away half of one's earnings for house room alone, is overstepping the bounds of that well-regulated economy so desirable among those of small means. Many mechanics would make Louisville their home, who go by our city to other points, if they could find comfortable cheap quarters for their families here."

The capitalist could realize a handsome income from the investment in houses adapted to their wants. Houses that would rent at $100 to $250 per month, and adapted to the wants of a very large class, will always have occupants. He had the other day, of an instance where a mechanic was compelled to pay one hundred dollars more for a house to live in than he felt able or willing to give; but he could not find a house in the whole range of his inquiries any cheaper—and of necessity, had to take it. So it is with hundreds in Louisville; and we are surprised that houses have not been more generally built, expressly adapted to meet this demand. We need houses for the people—the working, producing members of the community—not for men of means and fortune. They can build to suit themselves; but the description of houses of which we speak must be supplied. It is a great city want. We are satisfied that such houses will pay a handsome profit; and any architect can furnish the plan and specifications of such buildings, and the probable cost of the same, at short notice. Who, among the wealthy citizens of Louisville, will set the good example of building a score or more of them? Others will soon follow suit; for such houses will always be in demand, while our city is growing in trade and manufactures.

Louisville, for some years past, has been at a stand still point; but, for several months past, it has grown in population and business. Her manufacturing interests are looking up, and upon the completion of our water-works, there is no point in the West that can offer the same inducements to manufacturers. The Nashville Railroad is progressing finely, and we shall soon be in railroad connection with the vast country south. The road already centers a large trade here. Our facilities of trade—of shipping and receiving—will soon be equal to any other point. A vast deal of Southern trade, that has heretofore gone to Cincinnati and St. Louis, is coming back to Louisville. Indeed, this is the natural point for the trade from the South. Let us get ready then to meet it in every department of business and manufactures. The first step, then, is to build homes for the mechanic and working man. They will not invest their small means in a home until they become fairly settled, and it is very proper that they should not. Again, we say to capitalists, make your calculations, ascertain the cost, and at once supply the demand for cheap houses, now so urgently needed in our city.

"Well, the Atlantic Cable is no longer a supposition, but a fixed, incontrovertible fact; and Europe may be looked upon as a neighbor, with whom we can converse with ease and intelligence, without leaving our own door. The press, all over the country, are attempting to calculate the advantages arising from this great achievement. This is a useless, because an interminable, task. Many benefits now unknown to us will gradually be developed in time. One thing is sure—that the interests of humanity will be forwarded, and that this little wire, which is now silently uttering the thoughts of nations, beneath the dark expanse of waters, will, in some measure, control the destinies of the world. What are all former achievements in comparison to this?

The victories of Alexander or Napoleon only elevated one man to the pinnacle of glory and renown—that, too, at the price of the blood of millions. This elevates and ennobles the whole human family, without the loss of a single life; and will endure forever, as one of the most glorious emanations from the mind of man.

The discoveries of the fifteenth century were great, only because they seemed impossible at a time when science had made few developments, and when the world had scarcely aroused from the lethargy and inactivity of barbarism; but, in our day, when the Steamboat, the Railroad, the Press, and the Telegraph, have lent their giant aid in rooting up the weeds of schism and ignorance, and in planting, in their stead, the seeds of knowledge and religion, to fructify and beautify the globe—when, in other words, the fecundity of man's mind seemed exhausted, we are compelled to regard this new accomplishment as the grandest in the march of human genius and human enterprise.

It is as if God had lent his voice, to be used as an instrument in forwarding the interests of the world; in checking and quelling the petty and unnecessary quarrels and jealousies that naturally arise when nations are far removed from each other, and in binding us indissolubly together into one common brotherhood and one common destiny.

The time, we hope, is near at hand, when we will be known no more; for, while science is power, it is also peace.

"Messrs. Matlock and Clement say, in their card, that "when they determined to reject such polls as were not identified by the signature of the clerk, they did not know who would be prejudiced or benefited thereby." Ah! indeed. Did they not know that all the votes being counted Batman was elected, and therefore the rejection of any part of them might prejudice, but could not possibly benefit him; while it might benefit, but could not possibly prejudice Thomas? Again: if this statement be true, how came it to be confidently stated by members of the American party, on the morning of the day these gentlemen examined the polls, that Mr. Thomas would, in consequence of this very defect in the polls, receive the certificate of election; although their decision to that effect was not announced until six or seven o'clock in the evening?

"A lady correspondent desires to know "the age of Mr. Prentice, and how he looks." We do not know his age. He is old enough, at any rate, to be wiser; and as for his personal appearance, it is impossible to speak favorably of it, without indulging in the most unpardonable flattery. We have heard of one gentleman who thought the editor handsome, but he was instantly set down as an incorrigible wag.

"See advertisement of farm for sale in this morning's paper. Swan & Co.'s Lotteries TRIUMPHANT!

"Our pugnacious neighbors of the Journal and Courier have settled their difficulties after the following fashion. We suggested some time ago that the weather was too hot, entirely, for personal demonstrations, and we rejoice to learn that our contemporaries have acted upon our advice:

JOURNAL OFFICE, Aug. 16, 1858.

R. T. DURETT, Esq.: I addressed to you the following note on the morning of its date:

"LOUISVILLE, July 31, 1858.

"R. T. DURETT, Esq.: I deem it right to remind you that the bonds under which we were placed have expired, and to say to you, that, while I am willing to avoid any personal difficulties, and hope to have no occasion for one with anybody, I feel myself at liberty to hold personally responsible the author or publisher of any future aspersions upon my private character or my personal history.

"GEO. D. PRENTICE."

On the morning of the 5th inst., you published the above note in the Louisville Courier, and accompanied it with comments personally offensive. On the same morning, I prepared a second note, to be borne to you by a friend. Before I had time to send it, I received a written message from a gentleman, informing me that he had addressed to you a note making a demand in relation to the past; and the writer appealed to me not to interfere with you, in dependence of any action that I might take. I make this statement in explanation of my delay.

I presume that the difficulty, if there has been one, between you and the gentleman alluded to is no longer pending. My reflections, however, during the period that has elapsed since the 5th instant, prompt me to take a course somewhat different from that which I first intended taking. A friend has assured me that he has made a demand, and is in course of action, which causes them to act again with you, and to stand fast in the liberty wherein Christ has made them free, and not suffer themselves to be entangled again with the yoke of bondage. We ask you, therefore, to co-operate with us in continuing to maintain, in dependence of our divine religion, heretofo-

Mr. Barrows, principal of the High School in Palmer, Mass., recently bestowed a kiss upon a handsome female assistant, a fact not very remarkable, or apparently involving any great wickedness. But somebody saw it done and told the School Committee. It is fair to infer that the individuals composing that body are "superanuated persons" who have long ago forgotten what is, and can't tell what is, the meaning of the term. The New England Encyclopedia, containing the letter K, for they expelled Mr. Barrows from his school. Public sympathy is with the schoolmaster, however, for he has been endorsed by two clergymen, and the people of one section of the town threaten to set up a school on their own account, and employ Mr. B., if the School Committee refuse to reinstate him in his former position.

The 6:30 A. M. and 10 P. M. trains run through to Indianapolis, and from there connect with trains on the Terra Haute, Lafayette, Peru, Bellfontaine, and Indiana Central, for all the principal cities in the East, West, and North.

The 6:30 A. M., 10:50 A. M. and 10 P. M. trains connect at Seymour with trains on the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad for Cincinnati.

The 10 P. M. train on Saturdays goes to Seymour, where connections are made for Cincinnati and St. Louis.

One train on Sunday, at 10 P. M., running through to Indianapolis connecting at Seymour for the Louisville and Clark also Cincinnati and the East, and at Indianapolis for the principal cities East, West, and North.

Only one change of cars between Louisville and Cincinnati, St. Louis or Chicago.

Baggage checked to all the principal cities. All changes of cars made by trains running into the same depots, thereby avoiding annoying delays and incidental to the passengers leading from Louisville to the West and North west. Time as quick and fare as low as by any other route.

Through tickets and further information given at the Company's Office, No. 327 southeast corner of Main and Third streets, Louisville, Ky., or at the depot in Jeffersonville.

FOUND AND MISSING.—We give elsewhere, a statement of the drowning of a man named Burns. We learn that his body was found at the side of the boat late yesterday afternoon. We learn from a man who was engaged on the same boat, that when he found the body there was a cut behind the ear, about one and a half or two inches long, appearing to be made with a sharp knife, as if from a blow. The occurrence is left in considerable mystery. He left our informant and went to a distance of 30 or 40 feet, to get a drink of water, and was seen no more till yesterday afternoon. His fall into the water was heard, and an effort made to rescue him, but his body did not rise after its disappearance. Foul play is suspected, as the dead man was known to be a good swimmer, and was, at the time he started for the water, perfectly sober. His wife states that his name was Gilligan, and not Burns, as reported to the coroner, and as we first received it. Another of the men who was employed in working on those boats, is reported missing; and it is supposed that he has been drowned or made away with. His comrades hunted the city over yesterday, but could hear nothing of him. Mrs. Gilligan is left a widow with six children, and in needy circumstances. The name of the missing man, our informant could not give us.

There are five pairs of boats at the island, and on the pair upon which our informant was laboring, there were nine persons engaged, the man Gilligan having been his partner at the pump. There is ground for fears that a double murder has been committed, but no positive evidence has as yet been found. We shall follow up this case as soon as we obtain further information.

MR. J. G. MATHERS has just removed to a very large and commodious store, No. 47, Main street. We venture to say his stock of carpets, &c., is not surpassed in extent and variety by any house in the West. We called upon him yesterday, and through the kindness of one of his salesmen, were shown the various departments. The length of the floor is over one hundred and fifty feet. The basement is used as the oil-cloth and mattress department. The styles are new and unequalled. The first floor is devoted to the retail trade, and contains everything pertaining to the business of a carpet dealer. A visit to this portion of the establishment will convince any one of the variety and superiority of the goods.

The second floor is the wholesale department, where caravans of all kinds, from the luxuriant Brussels and tapestry, down, are stored.

The third, fourth, and fifth floors are filled with domestics, hemp, carpets, &c.

Mr. Mather is prepared to furnish the town and country trade with anything in his line of business; and we take pleasure in recommending him to all who desire a good article at a low rate. He has also a very fine manufacture of pianos.

SHOOTING AFFAIR IN THE COUNTRY.—Day before yesterday a shooting affair occurred about seven miles from the city, in this county, at the farm of the Widow Taylor. The facts, as we learn the 'un,' are, that Mr. Geo. Russell, overseer on the farm, had occasion, or attempted, to correct one of the negro men, when the latter turned upon him, and after scuffling awhile, threw Russell to the ground, and held him for a short time, but did not strike him nor offer to do so. When let up, Russell drew a pistol and shot the negro, the ball entering the breast, wounding him severely. Dr. Chenowith, the physician called in, thinks the wound not nearly dangerous, and that he will recover.

CAMPFIRE ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Watson, living in the upper end of the city, and her little boy, were badly burned, through using a campfire lamp. The lamp was sitting near a window, and the curtain was blown into the flame, setting it on fire. Mrs. W., who has been sick some days, jumped from her bed and pulled down the curtain, but could not extinguish the flames till she threw them over them to keep out the air. The little boy, in attempting to remove the lamp, either by tipping it over or spilling some of the fluid, was quite severely burned in three or four places. Persons using campfires as a burning fluid, cannot be too careful of its management. If Mrs. W. had not been so prompt, the house would soon have been on fire.

THEATER.—The house, last night, was very comfortable, the air being tolerably cool, and the improved ventilation being as safe to carry off effectively the heat. The performances, as usual, were full of fun and drollery, and kept the audience in a constant good humor. Franchon's horse is certainly one of the best trained animals we ever saw.

This evening the bill includes evolutions on the tight rope by Dubouchet and Blondin, dance by Mad. Blondin, Village Dance by Capel and Velarde—the performance to conclude with the new pantomime, in seventeen scenes, called Esther. We are told that this is a very beautiful pantomime, and well put on the stage.

DROWNED.—About 12 o'clock, night before last, a man named John Burns, who was engaged on a flatboat, at Willow Bar Island, pumping out the water, fell overboard and was drowned. His body has not yet been found. He leaves a wife and two small children.

DELIGHTFUL.—After sun-down last evening, a delightful breeze sprang up from the North, rendering the atmosphere deliciously cool, and giving us a foretaste of the season close at hand.

THE COULTER AND GILMORE AFFAIR.—We published yesterday morning a statement of the difficulty which occurred between the above named parties on Tuesday evening, on the authority of an eye-witness, whose word we have no reason to doubt. But as various contradictory rumors were upon the streets yesterday, we publish one version of the affair at the request of the gentlemen whose names are appended to it. Until a judicial investigation is had, the entire truth may not be divulged.

While we are standing upon the corner of Green and Hancock, we see Mr. Robert Stephen's round about him. Mr. Braden, Stephen's son, comes back immediately and as he passed the corner of Green and Hancock, we had considerable wind, but the dust was blown about in clouds, and when the wind fell the heat was intense; we had also about five minutes rain.

BUSINESS.—The Boston, from Cincinnati, brought in 29 bbls whisky, 200 shts salt, 52 bxs soap, 63 lbs cheese, 25 carboys vitriol, 220 lbs grease, 300 lbs soap, 391 bags coffee, 20 bxs snuff, a large lot of dry goods, &c., and returned with much freight as she took care.

The Rochester, from St. Louis, discharged 620 bbls hemp.

The Cincinnati Gazette, of yesterday, gives the following items:

The weather yesterday was hazy, with indications of rain, but very warm, with slight breeze. Bins of grain were extremely full. The river, all the way down to the mouth of the Ohio, was at 10 ft. more than four feet six in the mes of wa at Rising Sun. The water was extremely high, and was at least 18 in. higher at Guyan, with a rough bottom; rising and falling with the tides at various places, which com-fugists in consideral numbers have been offering to help. The extreme height, however, makes it difficult to cross business. From present appearances, we should expect the river to be at 12 ft. in a few days. Two hundred arrests had been made.

The commercial advice by the Saxon is mostly anticipated.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Consols closed to-day at 96@96½ for money, and 96½ for account.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The following message was sent to day by Mayor Tieman to the Lord Mayor of London:

To the Lord Mayor of London:

I congratulate your Lordship upon the successful laying of the Atlantic Cable, uniting the continents of Europe and America and the cities of Britain and the United States, the triumph of science and of man over space, thus uniting more closely the bonds of peaceful commercial prosperity, and introducing an era in the world's history pregnant with results beyond the conception of a finite mind. To God be all the praise.

Dispatch from the Governor General of Canada.

TORONTO, Aug. 17.—The following dispatch from the Governor General of Canada was sent to-day to Trinity Bay, to be transmitted over the ocean cable:

To the Honorable Secretary of State on Colonies, London, England:

The Governor General for British North America presents his humble duty to your Excellency, and most sincerely congratulates your Majesty on the completion of the great work of the Atlantic Cable.

Yester morning, before daylight, a lightning bolt struck a house in the village of Taylor, while reclining in his bedroom. The house was entirely destroyed.

John Dolley was drunk and disorderly, and abused his family, and went to the workhouse.

Wm. Austin was charged with an assault on Mrs. Fitzgerald, and was held to bail in $100 on answer.

Dick Buckner, a free negro, who was up as a suspected felon, had his case continued.

Two or three peace warrants were disposed of.

A TRIPLE KNOCK DOWN.—Yesterday morning, on Bullock street, near the river, a negro man was selling water-melons from his wagon, when three men came along and threatened to take a melon. One of them did pick up a melon and start away with it, when the negro knocked him down. A second went up and caught him by the throat; he jerked himself loose, and knocked No. 2 down, when 1 and 2 left. Having occasion to go up the street, No. 3 followed him, and was determined to have a melon at all hazards; darkey knocked him down also, and went on his way without further disturbance.

LEAVING TO-DAY.

For CINCINNATI.—The low water packet, Superior, in charge of Capt. Chas. Dinnan, leaves at noon precisely. Passengers buy through tickets to all the Northern and Eastern cities.

Steamboat Register.

CINCINNATI, AUGUST 18, M.—The river has fallen 7 inches in the last 24 hours. Weather clear. Mercury at 75°.

PITTSBURG, AUGUST 18, M.—The river 24 inches by mid-morning mark and falling. Weather clear and warm; mercury 85.

THE OLD RESIDENT GONE.—Yesterday Mrs. Hannah Williams, who has been a resident of the city for more than half a century, died at the ripe old age of sixty-eight years. When she came to this city, there was not a brick house in the place, and very few of any kind—those few built of rough logs. Her death was easy and peaceful, and a smile lived upon her countenance after the spirit forsook its abode.

"WILL-CA" RIOT IN DAVENPORT, IOWA.—A serious riot took place in Davenport, Iowa, on Wednesday evening and Thursday morning last, in consequence of the refusal of certain banking houses there to redeem Florence (Nebraska) money, which they had put in circulation.

The mob assailed the banking house of Cook & Sargent, and the residence of Mayor Cook. Mrs. Cook, while attempting to close a window shutter, was struck with a brickbat, and seriously injured that her recovery is now uncertain. At the last accounts, the outbreak had been suppressed, but the difficulty in which it originated was not settled, as no provision had yet been made for the redemption of the money.

ROCKET ACCIDENT.—Tuesday evening, as a lady named Deamer, with her husband and children, were standing at the corner of Third and Main, a rocket struck her in the face with the Royal Ichi; our own person is affected with numerous India Sores. Dr. Dallas informs us that Porter's Oriental Life Liniment is a certain cure for the above diseases. You will please purchase me a few gross, and send by first steamer, and oblige your friend.

VICTORIA REGINA.—P. S.—Hurry up the Lhumeut. D'Israël has taken the Hog Cholera. [d&w] V. R.

BALTIMORE.—The most important invention ever made to save labor is the Labor-Saving Machine.—The most important invention to the public generally is a Washing Machine, manufactured by R. D. Porter & Co., of this city. These machines have been tried by a large number of our best citizens, and have given satisfaction to every one who has used them. The machines are cheap, simple, durable, and not liable to get out of order. A child of ten years can understand and work one of them. It is a great saving of time and labor; it does not rub off the buttons, or injure the finest fabric in washing; it will wash anything from a pocket-handkerchief to the largest size bed quilt, and do the work quick, and do it well. In proof of the above, we can refer to a large number of highly respectable persons who now have the machine in use, and addition to this, give any one the privilege of trying the machine before purchasing.

DAILY DEMOCRAT.

READING MATTER ON EVERY PAGE.

SCENE AT A WATTERING PLACE.—The Philadelphia Press says the following incident really occurred at a fashionable summer resort called Deal:

The house at Deal stands some four hundred and fifty yards from the sea, between which there is a walk some seven feet wide, which serves as the thoroughfare.

Near the beach, to prevent the walk from being washed away by the waves, eight right pieces of timber were erected, about eight feet in height, with a cross-piece near the top. An interesting young Philadelphian lady, having fallen desperately in love with a gentleman, whose attentions were monopolized by a couple of New York ladies—albeit he was a faithful and devoted attendant until their arrival—resolved to make it the last time that she should leave him. She accordingly obtained a boat, and the two ladies and gentle were on their way to the beach, when, horror-stricken, she found him dangling from the cross-beam, which, since the occurrence, has been named "the Lover's Swing," the form of a lady in her bathing dress. She was at once recognized by the party as "the lady in love."

The gentleman quickly lowered the lady by the rope by which he was suspended, and, when he was upon the beach, when it was discovered that her pulse was actively beating. By the application of some water to her face, and rubbing her wrists, she speedily recovered; and in less than half an hour she was seen dashing about in the surf—now more full of life and spirit than she.

THE SICKWAT.—A fish of Lake Superior, is reported to be the fatness fish that swims either in fresh or salt water. The fishermen say that one of these fish, when hung by the tail in the hot sun of a summer's day, will melt and entirely disappear, except the bones. In packing up forty barrels, a few seasons ago, at Isle Royale, one of the fishermen made two and a half barrels of oil from the heads and leaf fat of these fish, and sold them at a high price. The fat or oil is disseminated in a layer of fat and a layer of lean throughout the fish. They are too fat to be eaten fresh, and are put up for the market like the lake white fish and Mackinaw trout.

CHILDREN AFLOAT ON THE LAKE.—A few days ago, as Mr. Owen was crossing the lake from Sandusky to Kingsville, in a small schooner, about eight miles west of one of the islands, he fell in with a small boat containing three children, the eldest a girl of 12, and the others much smaller. The boat had sprung a leak, water driving them ashore, and the children almost perished from having been so long in the water, which was nearly up to their necks. They had been seen in the boat in the morning; the father started in pursuit, but being unable to discover his children, had returned to the island. Mr. Owen ascertained where they belonged of the eldest, and kindly took the little wavy-tossed wanderers home. They had been floating with the wind from 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.—Cleveland Leader, 16th.

A Correspondent of the Cleveland Review, writing from Chicago, says:

"I should say that every real estate man is mortgaged for five times what he can pay. As a general item upon this point, I will state, upon the authority of a friend who saw the records, that the assessed value of the taxable property of Chicago, last spring, was $36,000,000, while the amount reported on bond and mortgage, which it was pledged to secure, was over one hundred and nine millions of dollars."
